Holly

Here are the 2 bids I got for the bay floor coatings. I would highly recommend the more expensive one for a couple of reasons.

- 1) The product they put down is a higher quality product than the competitor.
- 2) It is a father and son who do all the work so they will do the highest quality of work.
- 3) If we notice that the top layer is starting to wear down in the first year they will come back and install a 2 nd layer for free.
- 4) They supply a warranty and again we would be dealing with the father or son so they would work with us.
- 5) They will only have to have us park outside for I believe it was 3 days versus the other guy said a week.

Acceptance Of Estimate / Terms and Conditions:

All work is done on a "per project" basis. Garage Force will only charge you, the customer, the full amount of the invoice. Garage Force guarantees that the scope of work as described will not exceed the totals given in the estimate.

In the event that unforeseen circumstances occur at the job site, it is agreed that the customer and contractor will re-negotiate to cover unforeseen circumstances. Unforeseen circumstances include, but are not restricted to:

- Additional or excessive coating removal is needed.
- Unacceptable levels of moisture are discovered.
- Damage to the substrate and necessary repairs exceed original assessment.
- A request for additional work and/or material at the job site.
- A change to materials, systems, colors, etc. is requested.

Garage Force will, to the best of our ability, submit an estimate that will cover all costs to properly install a quality coating. It is in our best interest (and yours) to make you aware that problems may arise during the installation and to agree on how to address them.

Contaminated / Damaged Substrates

In submitting an estimate Garage Force assumes that the substrate of the area is sound and free of defects and that all proper installation guidelines were followed. One of the most important guidelines is that a vapor barrier is installed under the concrete. Moisture-vapor delaminating is one of the surest signs of a missing vapor barrier. Garage Force reserves the right to void all warranties if a system fails and it is determined by Garage Force that the substrate is at fault.

Down payments will be refunded only if cancellation communication is received by Garage Force of Madison thirty (30) days prior to scheduled job start date. All cancellations may be subject to a 10% restocking fee.
